INTITULED

An Act for regulating the management by the Trustees of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland of certain trust properties for the said Church, and for other purposes. A.D. 1871.

WHEREAS by the Irish Church Act, 1869, it was enacted, that any minister or assistant minister of any Protestant non-conforming congregation to or for whom any annuity was paid or secured under the said Act, by reason of the discontinuance of the Parliamentary grant commonly called and in the said Act referred to as "the Regium Donum," might apply to the Commissioners in the said Act mentioned to commute his annuity for a capital sum to be paid to him, and the said Commissioners, if satisfied that the annuity of the applicant was not encumbered, or if encumbered that the encumbrancers consented to the commutation, should cause the then present value of the annuity to be estimated, and should pay the amount of such estimated value to trustees, such trustees to be appointed in the case of any such minister or assistant minister as aforesaid by such minister or assistant minister and the general assembly or synod or presbytery, as the case might be, of the church or religious community to which such minister or assistant minister might belong :

And whereas it was by the said Act also enacted that the said Commissioners should at any time between the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one and the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, but not afterwards, if it appeared to them as respected any Protestant non-conforming body or communion, that not less than three fourths of the whole number of the ministers of such body or communion authorised to commute under the said Act had commuted or agreed to commute their life interests, pay, in addition to the moneys otherwise payable by them, a sum equal to twelve pounds in the hundred on the commutation money payable in respect of each life interest, such addition to be disposed of in the same manner as the commutation money in respect of which it was added :

A.D. 1871.

And whereas upwards of three fourths of the whole number of the ministers of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland authorised to commute under the said Act have already commuted their life interests for capital sums under the provisions of the said Act (which ministers who have already commuted 5 as aforesaid are herein-after designated "the said commuting ministers"):

And whereas the said commuting ministers and the said general assembly duly appointed the several persons herein-after named to be trustees to receive the said capital sums pursuant to the said 10 Act:

And whereas, in order to enable the said trustees to pay to each of the said commuting ministers an annuity for his life, provided he should so long continue in his office of minister of the said church, equal to the annuity commuted by him as aforesaid, and 15 at the same time to preserve undiminished the entire amount of the said commutation money as a source of permanent endowment for the said church, certain members of the said church agreed to raise by voluntary annual contribution or otherwise a certain amount of income, to be called "the sustentation fund" of the 20 said church (and herein-after designated as "the said sustentation fund"), the same to be applied in each and every year so long as any such life annuity should be payable as aforesaid to supplement the annual income arising from the said commutation money, so far as might be required for the payment in full of the several 25 annuities so to be paid as aforesaid:

And whereas the management of the said sustentation fund, so far as regards the raising the same, has been duly entrusted to a committee elected and to be elected by the said general assembly of the said Presbyterian Church: 30

And whereas donations and bequests to the said sustentation fund were directed to be funded by the said commutation trustees, if the donors or testators should so desire:

And whereas the said commuting ministers, having been desirous of co-operating in the formation of such sustentation fund, agreed 35 that the said commutation money payable in respect of their several and respective life interests as aforesaid should be vested in the said trustees, on certain trust contained in and declared by an indenture dated the thirteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and made between the said commuting 40 ministers of the first, second, third, and fourth parts, and the said trustees of the fifth part:

And whereas by the said indenture it was agreed and declared that the said trustees should apply for and receive from the said

Commissioners the commutation moneys payable by them in respect of the annuities of the said commuting ministers, and should stand possessed thereof on the trusts in the said indenture as aforesaid:

A.D. 1871.

And whereas the said trustees have received or will shortly receive the said commutation moneys payable by the said Commissioners as aforesaid in respect of the annuities of the said commuting ministers (including as well the amount of the estimated value of the said annuities respectively as also the said twelve pounds per cent. additional payable on the contingency aforesaid):

And whereas several of the ministers of the said general assembly who have not yet commuted the annuities payable to them respectively under the said Act may yet do so:

And whereas certain colleges and other property and trust funds connected therewith which have been given and bequeathed for the education of ministers for the said church are now vested in certain parties as trustees for the said church; and there are also churches, mansees, and other property connected therewith, now vested in certain parties as trustees, for congregations connected with the said church; and there are also trust funds and moneys which have been given and bequeathed by members of the said church, for missions and other charities connected with said church, and said trust funds and moneys are now vested in or under the control of divers persons as trustees for the said church, and portions thereof have been invested on mortgages of lands and in other securities:

And whereas it is desirable that provisions such as are in this Act contained should be made in relation to the said colleges, churches, mansees, trust funds, moneys, and other properties and securities which are now belonging to or which shall be devised or bequeathed to and for the use of the said church, or of congregations connected with the said church:

And whereas the objects aforesaid cannot be obtained without the authority of Parliament:

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in the present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as The Irish Presby-
